

Attorney-at-law or Experienced Associate for our International Construction Team

Are you interested in international construction law? Are you proactive, eager to learn, and commercially oriented? Do not hesitate to read further if you can say yes to these questions! We would love to have you as our new colleague.

OUR FIRM AND AMBITIONS

Molt Wengel is the most specialized construction law firm in Denmark. Construction and procurement law is the core of our company. However, our expertise and knowledge go further than the law. As strategic advisors, we advise a wide range of engineers, contractors, owners, and architects within the construction industry on not only legal matters but also commercial and strategic matters. We aim to be the preferred trusted advisor and make a tangible difference.

Molt Wengel has expanded significantly over the last couple of years, and there is no sign of us slowing down. In 2021, we opened new offices in Aarhus, bringing us closer to new employees and our clients.

THE TEAM AND YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Our team is based in Aarhus and Copenhagen, and you will have the possibility to work from both locations. The team currently consists of 8 members with different levels of seniority and a wide range of experience from various law firms as well as experience from leading firms within the construction industry.

The team advises on all aspects concerning international construction law particularly in relation to large scale construction projects - ranging from pre-contract negotiations to claim management, mediation, and arbitration. Our team is also advising customers on large scale renewable energy projects such as Power-to-X, commercial solar plants, and large-scale offshore energy projects.

As a part of the team, you will be a key player and responsible for strategic advice on new construction projects, claim management, contract drafting, managing client relationships, and much more. However, you will also be able to define your own role within the team in accordance with your preferences and experience.

YOUR PROFILE

We are looking for the following profile:

- You are passionate and curious about international construction.
- You have a legal education and preferably experience from a law firm – Danish or foreign.
- Experience within construction law and projects involving international clients.
- Proficient in English both verbally and in writing.
- A positive attitude towards alternative work methods that are different from how law firms usually work – for example, Molt Wengel has implemented the Pomodoro technique in our daily work.
